Local Delegation Submits Plans Of Port To Port Dist.

Resolution Accompanying Plans Asked For Rapid Completion Of Proposed Project

Confronted by a nine-man local delegation, which presented plans for the proposed port and docking facilities near Fort Island at a meeting Friday in Riviera Beach, the Palm Beach Port District instructed consulting engineers to meet with the city engineer to make further study of the proposed project.

Chamber of commerce directors approved the plans submitted by City Engineer John Pickett at a meeting last week previous to the conference with the commission. The city commission also passed on them before presentation to the port board.

With the plans, the delegation presented a resolution passed by the chamber of commerce and the city commission which requested that the Port of Palm Beach District, "Order proper plans and specifications to be drawn at no further expense than that of the city and advertise for bids and let contracts on the plan outlined in the plans approved and provided all funds necessary for the early completion of the work."

Speaking before the commission, Pickett gave the cost breakdown which totaled $276,590. He said, "I am sure that the $276,590, plus $100,000 storm refuge, $34,000 and legal, engineer and administrative, $30,000. Pickett explained that the location has a 15-foot elevation. Preliminary plans provide space on which were houses could be built later, he said.

Junius Harris, chairman of the chamber port commission, told the commission that an estimated $300,000 in taxes had been paid to the district by Belle Glade taxpayers since 1916.

Port Commissioner Vice Chairman Billy Burns, who presided in the absence of John H. Wells, chairman, said whatever is done on the project would depend on whether the proposed $750,000 port was.

Rardin Vetoes Opening County Registration Here

Plans to deputize a clerk here and open county and state registration books stalled this week under the veto of County Commissioner Paul Rardin.

DeWitt Upthegrove, county supervisor of registration, notified Mrs. George Young, chamber of commerce secretary, Wednesday by phone that the commission had vetoed the plan.

Upthegrove said, "The commission is of the opinion that the backing of the county commission is not needed."

Upthegrove explained it might be possible to have a clerk here for three or four days to take registrations and also in other communities which are a distance from West Palm Beach.

Property Owners Favor Organizing POMA Branch

Considering the possibility of organizing local property owners and managers into a Property Owners and Managers Association under the charter of the West Palm Beach Organization, a group met with association officers and members at the chamber of commerce building here Tuesday night.

Mrs. Edith Snyder, president of the West Palm Beach chapter and head of the county organization, explained the association is attempting to organize throughout the county in order to gain the strength and backing necessary to deal with taxpayers' problems.

She said that the local organization would act independently on the local level but that it would furnish two representatives to the county directors board who would take part in determining policies dealing with county and state problems.

Pointing out that the body has only suggestive power, Jack Carr, vice president, said the POMA operates on an educational proposition by getting property owners together and coordinating their thoughts and opinions for group action.

Their Pledge... Her Torch... Symbolize Free America!

For 42 years, American boys, repeating the Boy Scout pledge, have been a living symbol of all that the Liberty Torch represents: brotherhood... patriotism... freedom. We salute the Boy Scouts of America on their anniversary!

Scout Week, Feb. 6-13

(EDITORIAL)

Nothing is quite so charged with energy as young boys. Whether these energies are diverted into useful, meritorious channels or to tragic ends depends almost completely on guidance.

For 42 years the Boy Scouts of America have been doing vital work with American youth in a program to which the organization is dedicated. Through constructive programs and sound guidance by those who take time from their busy lives to work with today's youth, many young boys have been molded into young men of high caliber with sound principles of citizenship.

In this community every citizen and parent should breathe a heart felt thanks to our community Boy Scout leaders who have brought this program to our door steps. Spearheading the scout movement here are Roscoe Bradcock, commissioner of the South Glades District; A. E. Kirschman, district chairman; Eddie Blanton, master of Troop 88; R. S. Burr, master of Troop 22 and Buddy Schoenfeld, cub master.

Scout Week, commemorating the 42nd anniversary of the Boy Scouts Feb. 6-13, will include activities by local scouts emphasizing the spirit of citizenship.

Troop 88 and Explorer unit 88 have planned a project to protect bicycling boys and girls. They believe they have a plan which will keep bicycling in the classification of healthful recreation and out of the dangerous category labeled tragedy.

They are taking up the program of a man named Ken Penny, who when a boy was adressed by a car due to the lack of proper illumination on his vehicle. In young manhood he started searching for a safeguard for bicycle riders.

Scout members will be available from 3:30 p. m. on each afternoon during Scout Week to furnish reflectors composed of Scotchlite free to all those seeking it. Scotchlite is a material which was used during the war to mark landing beaches, fighter strips and harbor buoys and has over a hundred times the reflecting power of the whitest paint.

This program, which they will conduct on the local school grounds, may be responsible for saving some school boy's or girl's life, they believe. They are also donating some of the reflector tape to the school.

A feature of Scout Week, in which all scouts of the area will participate from Cub Scouts, is the Spring Round Up, a night of fun and award presentation. This program will be open to the public at 7:30 p. m., Feb. 14, in the high school auditorium.

The activities will serve to reemphasize the vital importance of the Boy Scout program here and through out the country and its tremendous service to the growing generation.

Straw Ballot Tues. To Decide Closing Hours Of Liquor Establishments In The City

Issues Are Present Hours And Hours Set By County

An unofficial straw ballot election Tuesday will decide the current controversy on city closing hours for establishments selling alcoholic beverages.

Voters will decide at the fire station poll to be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. whether the present hours will stand or if the hours set by the county will be observed. The present hours allow opening on week days from 8 a. m. until midnight except Saturday when they can stay open until 1 a. m. On Sunday they must close from 1 a. m. to 8 a. m. Monday.

County hours permit operation from 7 a. m. to 2 a. m. except on Sunday when the establishments can open from 2 p. m. to midnight.

Several weeks ago the present hours were passed by the commission on the request of a large delegation who object to the all night operation of stores in the colored section.

Because of conflicting opinions of groups here, the commission set an unofficial straw ballot election to determine the issue.

Following is a cross section opinion poll on the issue: Mrs. Ruth Wedgeworth Timmons: "Setting of the present hours is only the beginning. We have to correct the evil by bringing establishments outside of the city under supervision. The present hours are a step in the right direction. I wouldn't object to the county hours so much if it weren't for the Sunday opening which I oppose."

Chosen, Florida

January 30, 1952

Editor of Belle Glade Herald:

Belle Glade, Florida

Dear Sir:

Last night in West Palm at the school auditorium a most momentous meeting was held

sponsored by the American committee of Masons of Florida and to which all citizens were invited with special invitations to prominent officers and especially to any school teacher and parent. This meeting was attended very poorly, however,

approximately 250

where it was expected and should have been (again by estimation) a thousand or more.

Two very able speakers were presented, one, Russell A. Williams from Miami, a Masonic speaker of note, and A. L. Ver-gason, director of Education

from Tampa.

It is my sincere hope that the impression I received from Mr.

Vergason's speech is erroneous.

Mr. Vergason agreed with

Mr. Williams in stating that the school was the first bulwark

outside the fortress "home" in American Democracy, also that there were subversive elements that would like to take over our schools and through them the nation. He made remarks that led me to believe (hope I totally misunderstood) that it was proper for all things to run their course, that there was a misconception of "Education"

for generations and ages we had tried to put in what we thought should be learned while at school and we should bring out and develop what is in a child.

Well and good, but Mr. Vergason specially warned against the present wave of a destructive way of criticism and it was my belief that the present wave

was to see that subversive elements did not get in to later

be brought out and developed.

A citizen and one of those present,

Ray M. Brown.

B. ELLIOTT ANNOUNCES

FOR RE-ELECTION AS

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Representative B. Elliott

speaker of the House of Representatives at the last session announced Wednesday that he is a candidate for re-election.

Elliott said, "For some time

I have received strong encouragement from all parts of Florida to become a candidate for governor. I have been strongly attracted by the potential prospects of being able to put the immense power of the government, behind principles and policies of economy and efficiency which I have tried to run the House of Representatives for.

"These considerations have led me to consider deliberately and at length whether I should present my name to the people

as a candidate for governor at this time. The serious economic and political circumstances facing our state now are such that there is no time for snap judgment or hasty action. After full consideration, I have decided not to offer as a candidate for governor at this time but to offer as a candidate for re-ec-lection to the House."

Elliott stated that he will strive for greater political morality and economy.

The Concert Choir will travel in the Florida Southern bus and in the automobiles on the Northern tour.

COUNTY EXPOSITION SCHEDULED FOR FEB. 23

Through cooperation of Col. Glen R. Birchard, MATS commander at Palm Beach International Airport and the County Commission, the Seventh Annual Palm Beach County Exposition will be staged at the same buildings and grounds as in previous years, according to R. D. Hill and Frank J. Frazier, co-chairmen of the show.

The nine-day display of industrial, commercial and agricultural products of the county will open at 7 o'clock Friday, February 29 and continue afternoon and evening sessions through the second Saturday, it was announced by the representatives of the West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Resources Development Board.

Exhibitors from all sections of the county have been urged to make application for space before February 7 either by phoning the RDR office in West Palm Beach or writing the exposition committee at Box 107, West Palm Beach.

The limited indoor space available for manufactured articles, electrical equipment, distributors items, county services and agricultural products. Outdoor space will be allocated for automobiles, trucks, trailers, tractors, power and soil boats, farm equipment, nurseries and outdoor furniture.

Despite the fact that the military services had taken over the county airport, the committee reported that permission had been given by Col. Glen R. Birchard and the County Commission to use the same buildings adjacent to Southern Boulevard as in previous years.

Following the opening day the show will be open from 2 to 10 p. m. through Saturday, March 8.

The exposition is a county-wide non-profit civic project devoted to the promotion of industry, commerce and agriculture of the county and is restricted to firms and organizations having county representation, the committee said.

Setting the tentative opening date in early summer, Golden said that the center will offer entertainment for all ages. It will include a drive-in restaurant and indoor game facilities such as ping pong and shuffleboard to be housed in the former or night club.

Arrangements are being made for ping pong and rock fill which will be laid before screen and theatre facilities are installed, he said.

COLD THREAT SPARES GLADES CROPS WED.

Cold weather brought in on the coast tails of a northern cold wave brought the third frost threat of the season to the area early Wednesday morning.

Low temperatures early Wednesday ranged between 35 and 44 degrees in the Lake Okechobee area, Jack D. Cox, meteorologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau here, reported.

Lowest temperatures were noted in the mucklands away from the lake, he said, running a little lower on the east side than in the southwest portions.

Small pockets of very light frost were reported in scattered, sheltered areas. No crop damage was reported to the warning service. Majority of the crops planted in sections away from the lake are hardy and respond to cool weather.

In the unusually mild season to date only one frost on Dec. 13 caused damage and that was slight.

At a series of preliminary meetings of Glades growers and land owners sponsored by the chamber of commerce, problems and questions concerning the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control program were consolidated in preparation for the area meeting. The meeting is planned for the purpose of a discussion between land owners and U. S. and FCD engineers and officers on questions relating to the Lake Okechobee area.

Jones and Baker discussed the five million for the Florida flood control program included in the current budget with the senator, and a Congressmen Dwight Rogers at the Washington conference.

The Florida delegation disclosed that they have already been busy on the budget and the members of their respective bodies in an effort to assure the flood control appropriation in the bill as finally passed.
